UNLOCKING THE POTENTIAL OF THE SOCIAL ECONOMY FOR EU GROWTH

On November 17th-18th, Italy hosts a participatory and policy-oriented conference on Social Economy. Auditorium del Massimo. Via Massimiliano Massimo 1, Rome.

Define the course and objectives European policy should strive to achieve regarding the social economy: an ambitious yet urgent goal according to the Italian Presidency, which has chosen to dedicate, during the Semester of Presidency of the European Union Council, careful consideration to the role of the Social Economy by organizing the international conference "Unlocking the potential of the social economy for EU growth". The event will take place on November 17th-18th in Rome, Italy at the Auditorium del Massimo.

The event is organised by the Italian Ministry of Labour and Social Policy in collaboration and with the financial contribution of the European Commission and with the support of ISFOL and represents one of the biggest summits on this subject in Europe. More than 190 speakers from 25 European countries - Institutional representatives, social economy practitioners, stakeholders, policy-makers, scholars and experts (as well as all of those who are interested in helping the Social Economy fulfill its potential) - will discuss the key issues affecting the development of the Social Economy in Europe. The debate will be organised in 10 parallel thematic sessions examining various topics, including policy support at National and European level, financial instruments and intermediaries or collaboration with the public sector.

The conference opening address will be given by Giuliano Poletti, Italian Minister of Labour and Social Policy, followed by a keynote speech by Jean-Paul Fitoussi (Institut d'Etudes Politiques de Paris Luiss - France) on "The Social Economy goes global".

The Conference was preceded by a public consultation in order to facilitate dialog and debate in a transparent and participatory way. In keeping with this desire, the conference is open to the public on prior registration. The registration form is available on the official website: socialeconomyrome.it

The conference is the result of a broader initiative that included a public consultation and call for speakers held from August 5th to September 22nd 2014. The Working Groups involve experts and practitioners who applied to the call for speakers and were selected based on criteria aimed to achieve an equal distribution of participants in terms of geographic origin, relevance of field of work or study, and organisational representation.
